Opening General Session | Watch the Live Stream!

The Water Environment Federation (WEF) envisions a world where everyone lives life free of water challenges. Our members work every day to realize this vision and lead the future of water. The primary water challenges we all face are related to quality, quantity, variability, and accessibility. In this year's Opening General Session, speakers will share their personal water stories, highlighting these critical issues and providing hope and inspiration for the future.
